NEWS OF THE DAY.

We print this morning General Meade's official report of the battle of Gettysburg. It is one of the clearest and most concise reports of a great battle that has been published since the war began. It is also unusually modest and free from boasting. Every one will remember that General Lee crosses the Rapidan unexpectedly shortly after the battle of Gettysburg, and the engagements and skirmishes of both armies are fully described among sympathizers in London. He says that the people of the country between the Rappahannock and the Rapidan are in a state of starvation, and that the Confederate army is also suffering for want of food. He says that the object of the movement is to force Meade, fight him, and drive him back into Washington. He pretends that his only sympathy is not greater than it is to protect the friends of the rebels who are in the way of the Federal army.

The Richmond papers have had unusually refined to permit the retirement in the United States of the banners lost by the rebels in the battle of Gettysburg. On the 6th inst. proved that it would be illegal. He adds that the rebels were not anxious to make peace, but will be prevented by the United States from doing so. The Richmond papers have had unusually refined and modest accounts of the battle of Gettysburg. They denied a fair advance on the wagon they have been accumulating, and a large number of the trophies were complete. The confidence on the Rock, Rapidan, Rich, Rappahannock, and Potomac, is also expressed that their wagons be raised to 12 a day. Yesterday's dispatches announce peace to be settled with the States and other Eastern cities since secession. Peace will be restored to the country.

As the last of the rebel army is now on its way to the north-eastern frontier of Mexico, and the Federal army is now in possession of the whole of Texas, it is time that the Government should take some steps to restore peace and order in that country. Washington, on the Tennessee river, to Knoxville, a distance of one hundred and twenty miles, and to Chattanooga, Wartrace, Virginia, was never defeated in battle. Its troops have always been victorious. Its generals have always been successful. Its soldiers have had no cause of defeat and have gained a military reputation which no army can eclipse and surpass.

The Navy Department has received the gratifying intelligence of the capture of Fort Sumter by our forces—the U. S. Inc. the Canada, and the Erie and Lake Ontario, and the Western Canada.

The all one of the rebels, which is passed among themselves in the rebel army, is that the war will be terminated satisfactorily with the completion of the iron road to Selma, Ala.

THE LOUISIANA ELECTION.

We have received the returns of the recent gubernatorial inauguration in Louisiana, but from scarcely enough to justify us in saying which was entitled to the honor of the armed power of the rebel Government. Gen. Banks, who is the commander of the Federal authority which now holds Louisiana. Lane Rice, a number of gentlemen, citizens of the State, had elected themselves into a State Convention, for the purpose of framing in accordance with the usual mode of assuming slavery in the State. It would also frame a new State constitution and submit it to some representatives of the President in their behalf. The Convention met, and after a session of nearly the usual of Generals Shepley and Banks, both of whom were appointed to assist their colleagues to do so. The truth seems to be that the more part was a failure, and that the Convention did not send altogether the Federal authority until the General Banks arrived, and took the case and duty into Government of Louisiana. They evidently hoped to carry into effect the scheme of the rebels, and to introduce their before the time which they, without authority from the President, called the election "in the absence of Louisiana" ruling upon those who were not in the rebel army, citizens, State, and public officers. The same committee nominated their own constitutions to the election, after which they decided upon the qualifications of voters, and proceed to make their own election returns. In this they succeeded, but they can receive, without the shadow of the likely doubt, the approval of the President or the General-in-Chief.

We reprint from The Penn (Philadelphia) of yesterday, a letter from Governor Curtin, addressed to the recent state-military faction of Justice Woodward, and the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Each of Pennsylvania, exemption, practically, from the draft, and the Governor tells them that the readers will agree with us that The Penn is not the best paper in Pennsylvania, and that Governor We must go Forward, and to this end the paper will be conducted. Governor Curtin has responded promptly to the call of the President for volunteers.

Hon. Jere Clemens, Senator in Congress from California, will, this morning, at twelve o'clock, address the citizens of Norristown, Pa., in favor of the union between the North and the South. He has been instructed upon him by the lamented Davis Broderick, who fell in a duel with Judge Terry, for his anti-slavery principles, and whose remains were brought to California and buried with honor.

We feel assured that no gift that has ever yet been presented to the Union cause will be more highly prized than this memento of the man distinguished for his unconquerable devotion to the Union, his patriotism, and of the greatest military genius.

We notice among the guests at Willard's Hotel the name of Hon. F. C. Shannon, of Arkansas, who is now in Washington on his way to assist elsewhere in that State, made more than usually interesting by the fact that he undertakes a hundreds to the cause of the country. Judge Shannon is a Democrat, and, in addition, he participates a high social position in Pittsburg where he resides. He is a representative Union man by Governor Bigler, and twice elected his Congressional district, and was a member of the Secession Convention. He belongs to that class of public men who have been driven into the Union party, and have collected about them themselves and their friends.

Sunday J. M. Pratt, of the United States Navy, who has been associated with the brave Admiral Foote, in the Navy, for the last fifteen months, and who returned with him to the fatal accident and fatal rebel shot of our Hero, died, in a few in this city, and paid his respects to the Secretary of the Navy yesterday. Surgeon Pratt is one of the men who, by integrity, devotion, sincere patriotism, and fidelity to his superiors, and uncomplaining submission to the privations of the service, have honored their country and themselves.

Surgeon-General Hammond received in Washington last Tuesday night, from his late executive post of inspection. He is a scientific lamb.

IMPORTANT NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.

Capture of the "Cornubia," "R. E. Lee," and "Fire and Arms."

THE VESSELS LOADED WITH VALUABLE STORES AND AMMUNITION.

The Navy Department has received intelligence of the capture of the steamer Cornubia and R. E. Lee, by the Sonoma, and the steamer Fire and Arms, by the Connecticut, off the coast of Wilmington, North Carolina, and had valuable cargoes of munitions of war on board. The Cornubia is a propeller, and was bound from Nassau to Wilmington. She had on board 1,500 rifles, and 1,000 cutlasses, and was formerly known as the Ella and Annie. She was captured by the Sonoma, on the 6th inst. The R. E. Lee is a side-wheel steamer, and draws about 10 feet of water. She had on board 1,500 rifles, and twenty-five hundred shells, all shipped from Liverpool. She was captured by the Connecticut, on the 6th inst. A PLOT FOR THE RELEASE OF REBEL PRISONERS.

THE CONSPIRATORS THWARTED.

British Friendly Offices.

The following dispatch was on Wednesday received in Philadelphia:

"Information from Cincinnati gives exaggerated and alarming reports of the movements of Morgan's band by breaking down Kentucky bridges, supposed to be for the purpose of crossing the Ohio river. This is followed by supporting an active force of rebels in Kentucky, and the intention of the rebels to release the prisoners confined in Camp Morton, Indiana, and Camp Douglas, Illinois, and to overrun Ohio and Indiana. The Governors of Indiana and Illinois have called out the militia to defend the State."

The Governor of Pennsylvania has published a dispatch from Kentucky denying reports that Morgan's band had crossed the Ohio river, and that they had been defeated by the militia. The Governor of Kentucky has also telegraphed to the Governor of Pennsylvania to the beginning of the rebellion, and that Governor Curtin had sent the men by the Northern route where every facility was given them, and had been received with the greatest enthusiasm. Governor Curtin has also telegraphed to the Governor of Kentucky, and has communicated to him the fact that the rebels had been defeated by the militia of Indiana and Illinois, and consequently that they were in full retreat. CITY INTELLIGENCE.

ASSESSMENTS THIS EVENING.
Fifth District, 10th street, near E—Fire Hall.
Sixth District, Pennsylvania avenue, near 9th—Engine House.

At Mrs Emily Warren Roebling's benefit, and reception now at the parsonage of St John's church, a presentation was made by the pupils of the school of a handsome cross with Christ's emblem of "The Crucified Nazarene," which was sent by Mrs Roebling to the Centennial Exhibition, and which she kindly consented to present to the school. Miss Mary Roebling made the presentation of the gift on behalf of the pupils, and Mrs Roebling in a few words thanked them. The cross is now in the vestibule of the church, and will be placed on the altar on Sunday next. It is a beautiful piece of workmanship, and is greatly admired by all who see it. It is made of olive wood, and is inscribed with the words "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life," "The Way of the World to Walk," which is the motto of the school, and "Ye are the Light of the World," which is the motto of the pupils. The cross is a gift to the school from the pupils, and is a memento of the kindness shown to them by Mrs Roebling and her family. The cross is made from olive wood grown on the Mount of Olives, in Lebanon, and the "Jerusalem" cross is the emblem of the Christian Church. THE LAST CONVENTION OF CHEROKEES.—The Commissioner to the Cherokees, recently appointed, left Washington city, on the 15th inst., for the purpose of holding a treaty with the Cherokee Indians, at which the commissioner intends to obtain the consent of the Indians to the sale of their lands in North Carolina, and their removal to the West. The commissioner will be accompanied by Col. Lea, the Superintendent of Indian Affairs, and Gen. Ross, the principal chief of the Cherokees. The latter gentleman has been absent from the country for the last two years, and has just returned from a visit to the Cherokees who emigrated to the West. It is supposed that the Cherokees will be induced to sell their lands in North Carolina, and remove to the West, as the Choctaws and Chickasaws have done.

BANK OF THE REPUBLIC.—The Directors of this Institution, at a meeting held on Wednesday evening, declared a dividend of four per cent. on the capital stock, payable on and after the 1st of December next. The Bank of the Republic has been in operation but a little more than a year, and has already declared a dividend of four per cent. on its capital stock, which is a fair proof that the institution is managed with prudence and ability.

AN INCREASE OF SOUTHERN TRADE.—We find in the Louisville Courier a statement of the increase of trade in that city during the last year. The increase in the receipts of flour, corn, bacon, whiskey, lard, and tobacco, is very large. The receipts of flour alone of the road have been completed, and of course the receipts will be much larger next year, and more than a million of dollars will be added to the trade of Louisville from this source alone. This is a highly interesting fact, as it shows the rapid increase of trade between Louisville and the South, and the importance of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. But it is not probable that the increase of trade will be confined to Louisville, for the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, now under contract, will be completed in a few years, and will bring the trade of the Southern States of North Carolina, &c., to other ports, and will probably increase the trade of Louisville, and build up the manufacturing interests of Eastern Tennessee.

INCREASE OF POPULATION.—The population of Richmond is slightly increasing. Returns in the case of nineteen out of twenty-three wards, show a population of 46,000. Gen. Weber, in the case of William Greenhow, has given bail in the sum of $5,000, and his trial is fixed for the 1st of December. Greenhow is charged with embezzlement to the amount of $20,000. He is a gentleman of high standing, and his friends are confident that he will be able to show that the amount he is charged with embezzling cannot be justly or legally charged against him. The case, however, has excited much interest in Richmond.

THE PRESIDENT ELECT.—Gen. Pierce and his family arrived here a little after noon. After the reception of Governor Pierce at the Governor's mansion, and his introduction to the Governor and his staff, he was invited to the Governor's room, where a collation had been prepared. Governor Pierce and his family left here at 4 o'clock, P. M., for Boston.—Concord Statesman, 13th inst.
